What is the Insurance Ombudsman?

The Insurance Ombudsman is a quasi-judicial body established by the Government of India under the Insurance Ombudsman Rules, 2017. It provides a free, fast, and fair mechanism for resolving disputes between policyholders and insurance companies. There are 17 Ombudsman offices across India.

KEY FACTS

The Ombudsman can award compensation up to Rs 50 lakh. The process typically takes 1-3 months. No lawyer is needed. The service is completely FREE. The Ombudsman's decision is binding on the insurer.

When Can You Approach the Ombudsman?

You can file a complaint with the Ombudsman if any of the following apply:

- Your claim has been rejected by the insurer
- Your claim has been partially paid (you disagree with the amount)
- The insurer has not responded to your grievance within 30 days
- You are not satisfied with the insurer's GRO response
- The insurer has delayed claim settlement beyond 30 days
- The insurer has cancelled your policy unfairly
- The insurer has charged excess premium or hidden charges
- There is a dispute about policy terms or coverage

Before You File: Prerequisites

Before approaching the Ombudsman, you MUST have already filed a complaint with the insurance company's Grievance Redressal Officer (GRO). This is a mandatory step. The Ombudsman will not entertain your complaint unless you have first exhausted the insurer's internal grievance mechanism.

1. File a written complaint with the insurer's GRO
2. Wait for 30 days for a response
3. If no response or unsatisfactory response, approach the Ombudsman
4. You must file within 1 year of the insurer's final reply

Which Ombudsman Office to Approach?

You should approach the Ombudsman office that has jurisdiction over the location of the insurer's branch that issued your policy. If you're unsure, you can file at any Ombudsman office and they will transfer it to the correct one. You can also file online at www.cioins.co.in.
